OFFICIAL RECEPTIONS.

How the Capital People Passed New Year's Day.

PROGRAMME AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

The Order at the Receptions of the Vice-President and Cabinet Office is Board of Trade "Boys" at One o'clock; Then their usual New Year's Eve Circus; "Old Hatch" stamped the New York World fishes for 40 cents with varied success.

WASHINGTON CITY, Jan. 1.—The New Year's Day for the capital began briefly at the White House with the president's reception, the programme for which was as follows: At 11 in the morning the president received the vice-president, the members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps, the members of the Pan-American conference, the members of the international arbitration commission, and the members of the American claims commission; at 11:15 the chief justice, the associate justices of the supreme court of the United States, the judges of the United States court of claims, and the judges of the supreme court of the district of Columbia; at 11:25 senators and other representatives in congress, the commissioners of the District of Columbia, and the judicial officers of the District, members of the cabinet, and ex-ministers of the United States; at 11 to the officers of the army, the navy, and the marine corps; at 12:15, the Knights and Daughters of the Maccabees, the members of the congressional commission, the attorney-general, the assistant attorney-general, and the solicitor-general; the assistant justices of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, the members of the Old Soldiers' and Sailors' Association of that district, the members of the diplomatic corps, international American conference, international arbitration conference, and the Venezuelan commission; the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court of the United States, with the chief justices and judges of the court of claims and the other justices and judges of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, and the representatives in congress and the officers of both houses, with the attorney-general, the members of the congressional commission, the attorney-general, and other federal and District officials. From 12:30 to 1:30 a general reception was held at the residence of the vice-president and Mrs. Morton.

At the Speaker's Home.

The vice-president and Mrs. Morton received from 12 o'clock noon until 2 o'clock p.m. at their residence, 1,500 Rhode Island avenue, the members of the cabinet, the members of the diplomatic corps, international American conference, international arbitration conference, and the Venezuelan commission; the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court of the United States, with the chief justices and judges of the court of claims and the other justices and judges of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, and the representatives in congress and the officers of both houses, with the attorney-general, the members of the congressional commission, the attorney-general, and other federal and District officials. From 12:30 to 1:30 a general reception was held at the residence of the vice-president and Mrs. Morton.

At the Speaker's Home.

Mrs. Thomas B. Heath, wife of the speaker of the house, assisted by a number of her personal friends, received at her apartments at the Standard from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Wm. W. Brewster, wife of the secretary of the treasury, began her reception immediately on her return from the White House and was assisted by the Misses Weston and by Mrs. W. D. Ward, her son's wife, and Mrs. Hatchett of New York.

Secretary Proctor was assisted in receiving the officers of the army and other officers by Miss Proctor and Mrs. Carey, his mother. Mrs. Proctor being too ill to go to New York, her daughter, Mrs. Constance, Mrs. Hatchett, and Mrs. Weston, and the Misses Weston, Whiting, and Whiting, of the speaker's residence.

The Canadian Inquiry.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—At the hearing by the state committee on Canadian relations yesterday, Ells H. Rogers, United States sub-treasurer and collector of the U.S. Mint, exposed reciprocity as a commercial unit and said annexation was a long way off. His opposition to commercial reciprocity was based on the belief that the "crown was not worth the candle." The two countries' interest in new or very new industries in Canada, he said, were the same as Canada treated out. D. E. Lovelagh of Saginaw, Michigan, a leading manufacturer of lumber in Canada, also spoke in favor of reciprocity. He said that if Canada did not export duty on logs, he could not sell lumber to his Michigan mills more cheaply than on this side.

The Strike on Mackey's Lines.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—The situation in the strike on the Mackey system is better. No attempt was made yesterday to re-open the strike. The strikers declared they would stay out while they can pay it. The strike, they say, that Master of the corporation had instigated; that he has red men with men. Mackey yesterday declined to suspend his strike to meet him in the case of the discharged men separately, but this the strikers demand.

Ripe Strawberries in Illinois.

ANSWER, Jan. 1.—Owing to the very warm weather of the past six weeks, vegetation of all kinds has become more advanced than usually the case at the beginning of spring. Many fruit trees are in bloom, and in some places apples and peaches are nearly ripe. A few strawberries were picked last week. Early flowers are out, the fields are nearly as green as grass, and the buds on the forest trees are in full bloom.

An All-Round Disaster.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Jan. 1.—Thomas Hutchison, a native, clerk in T. M. F.'s importing house, and son of the man who first put the columns when the building was coming down. For a few minutes the air was full of flour and glass seed rockets with long, dusty tails. Every bag seemed to hit half a dozen suits of clothes in its flight. Some shotgun shells were "whiter than snow" when he exploded, puffing like a piece of artillery.

Frightened the Ladies.

The ladies in the gallery turned white with fear. The other reporters jumped from their perches to see if the electric globe were shattered. The columns were coming down. For a few minutes the air was full of flour and glass seed rockets with long, dusty tails.

Every bag seemed to hit half a dozen suits of clothes in its flight. Some shotgun shells were "whiter than snow" when he exploded, puffing like a piece of artillery.

Honored "Old Hatch."

About this time, when all the pits were emptied and there was a burlesque wild-dress dance, Mr. Hutchinson was seen conferring with his brokers just back of the cashier piece. He was sitting tilted back in his big chair with his glasses on his nose and no fear in his heart. Suddenly the bags began dropping close about him. It was a bombshell.

TRIALS OF THE PAPACY.

Leo XIII Enumerates a List of Church Grievances.

ITALIAN LAWS NOT SATISFACTORY.

The Temporal Power and Why He Claims It—Terrible Holocaust in England—Sabbath Down with "La Grappa"—Irish Leaguers Denounce the Attack on Parnell—Mary Anderson to Leave the State—Riot Threatened in Belgium.

ROMA, Jan. 1.—The pope at Morley's cemetery, in speaking of the liberal treatment of Roman Catholics in America, said that the Italian authorities of the church persistently compromised their war against it, as was made evident by the recent utterances of persons in public positions, acquainted with the intentions regarding the church of the rulers of Italy. Among other recent insults to the church was the demonstration in honor of Giacomo Bruno. The Italian government, seeking to denounce the people from the church, opposed the action of the pope in every way.

The Temporal Power.

His holiness referred to the temporal power as necessary to the independence and liberty of the pope in the exercise of his mission, and declared that he did not claim the restoration of the temporal power from human sources. It was his right, and he was resolved to preserve it, intact, and transmit it to his successor as one of the most valuable possessions of the Christian faith. The new Italian penal code, just coming into operation, also attacked the just liberty of the clergy and hindered their work with new obstacles.

Another Wound for the Church.

An additional wound was about to be inflicted upon the church by the law regarding charitable trusts, which had recently been enacted with unseemly haste. This was a fresh step in the endeavor to efface every vestige of religion from civil institutions. By this law all pious establishments were to be suppressed or transformed, especially those for the dowering of girls without portions, those regarding girls entering convents, and those by which it was provided that masses should be said for the souls of the dead. This law violated the wishes of the founders of all these charities. Priests were excluded from the benefits of charitable institutions and women were admitted to such benefits.

No True Charity Outside.

It was argued that charity should be secular in order that it might be more acceptable. But, indeed, the unfortunate and poor would have no place to accept Christian charity; and when the church there is no true charity. Other laws are now in operation, leveled at the church by the inventors of the temporal power, forcing itself into new things. For among all those things might embolden the church, but they can never definitely oblige its course.

An Editorial Comment.

The Bishop of Roma says the evidence of the language used in the pope's allocution will not prevent Italy from being governed in harmony with the necessities of progress and the aspirations of her people.

DISCONTENTED BRAZILIANS.

The Dictatorship Urged to Hurry Up—Practicing for Pedro.

LIMA, Jan. 1.—Letters and papers from Brazil of the last of Dec. 12 are at hand.

From these sources it is learned that the government was being urged on all sides to constitute some kind of representation for the Brazilian states in view of the interests, discontent of the provincial people with the military dictatorship. The downfall of the military and could not compel his master to testify. He asked the members to bring suit against the military in the legal courts, and he would then be ready to prove his assertions. The result of his charges culminated yesterday in a sum of $100,000 filed against Stockdale. T. J. Graves, a well-known theatrical manager, whom Stockdale had with being buried.

What's the Matter with Salisbury?

LOMPOZO, Jan. 1.—The air of mystery surrounding the illness of Lord Salisbury, about which condition all sorts of reports have been circulated, has led suspicious persons to ascertain the facts, which are just now brought to light. Lord Salisbury was taken ill with influenza on Dec. 24. He sought the services of a physician, Dr. G. Ward, and said he was unable to sit up, but will be confined to his room for several days and probably compelled to remain in the house for a fortnight.

Has He Captured Our Men?

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—The situation in the strike on the Mackey system is better. No attempt was made yesterday to re-open the strike. The strikers declared they would stay out while they can pay it. The strike, they say, that Master of the corporation had instigated; that he has red men with men. Mackey yesterday declined to suspend his strike to meet him in the case of the discharged men separately, but this the strikers demand.

BOUNDLESS IMPEDIMENTA.

The impudence of the high-tax protectionists knows no limit. It is as boundless as the average human greed, and selfish almost beyond belief. It feeds upon itself, and, strangely enough, thrives well. It is always insolent, and in fact regards the man of average hard-working honesty as some sort of undeveloped creature that was put on this earth to wait upon and work for others; for a few others who have enough worldly wisdom to see clearly that the president is a little tough on our Chicago republicans when you remember that Harrison does not require any more in the great moral line than is wrapped up in such a man as Dudley of Indiana. If there is not a republican in Chicago as good a man as the "blocks of five" here, we are in favor of a bill to move the penitentiary from Joliet to the windy city. It will become cheaper to take the pen to the prisoners than to take the prisoners to the pen.

But maybe Harrison would like to appear on outskirts to federal positions in this state, and so has taken this means to make his wishes bear fruit. After our senators have named everybody in Illinois, they will have to go to Indiana for men and more select material. Well, the times are a little bit hard on the republican who is unfortunate enough to live in Illinois. But they are not half as hard on him as he is on this state. If Harrison ever concludes to recognize a few of our patriots, he can do the cause of good local government a great service by giving them a foreign appointment, and he can make no objection. Get them so far away that they will be unable to return, and then the president might be only men whom the president might be good enough to hold federal offices in Chicago are decent. In this instance Harrison's idea is an eminently wise one, but we don't know so much about the reasons which led him to this conclusion. Did some one say it was civil service reform?

This man who swore off anything while surrounded by the kind of weather we had yesterday deserves the distinction of being canonized before death.

Among a band of cheeky fellows may always be found some who overtop the others. They are the bespangled highwaymen of civilization. They do not wear daggers in their belts or Colt's revolvers on their hips. They rather get themselves up after the style of Solomons' billy, being especially careful not to exceed the record in the matter of work. They ask for the earth and promise to be content for the present if you offer them the universe. Just as present, the fellows who are acting this role are the men who are asking for higher duties on chemicals. And among these, the man of most astounding nerve in the whole crowd is the fellow who wants the duty restored on quinine. His cheek is actually swollen. He ought to come on to Decatur and run The Herald for a month or so. The fellow we have got now might be sent to explore Africa in 24 hours.

We all know the story of quinine and the tariff. Quinine will knock dumb or yelping, ase, malaria, influenza, or almost any other form of tremors. It may be able to rescue McElroy. But once quinine swallowed a tolerably large dose of protective tariff. The result was almost fatal. We fed it tariff for a number of years and it only continued to waste away. At last it was concluded to take the duty off quinine. In a few weeks the drug took on all its vigor, and did wonders in the way of chasing chills and marts out of the country. Under free trade the price of this drug became about one-twelfth what it was when protected. The amount of it manufactured by our people was many times greater than before. Never was the benefit of a chemist more marked.

And now a Philadelphia patrician has along, without being clothed in armor, asks for the restoration of the duty. It is well to remember that this man is from Philadelphia—where he has for years had daily opportunity to gaze on Wanamaker. He comes from the same state with Quay. He recognizes the fact that influenza is now upon us, and that we must fight it with quinine. A visitation of Providence is this fellow's opportunity. He goes before the house committee on ways and means and asks for a duty on his drug. Mr. Carlisle inquires if the duty will increase the price of the drug, the selling price to the consumer. The man from Philadelphia answers that of course it will. What did Carlisle think he was there for? This Philadelphia patrician can't see that the selling of the drug has anything to do with the question. He is one of the ring, and shares with his brothers the belief that the present government was built for the sole purpose of enabling him to grow suddenly rich. Probably he is the government sized up against him.

Now will this follow speedily? His success would be an outrage, but the fact does not help in an intelligent conjecture. Senator Bias is a parson, from the state of Wisconsin and Quay, before a reputable committee on ways and means, later to go to fame a republican house and senate, and to wind up at last with a republican president. Everything is his to lose, and it is who have less in their bones will do well to fit him to a chair at once. You can do nothing quite now in a few months unless it may be the only thing within your means. This is to be made free enough, but it is not a dazzling success at enacting a law.

Now we would like to call attention to the fact that this Philadelphia man would not dare go before a democratic committee with his quinine proposition. And the same is true with men who have a thousand other tariff schemes. They are all rushing to Washington and asking for increased duty. The most conservative sense of the people is that there must be a decrease in tariff rates. But what have the people got to do with it anyhow? The Philadelphia man remarks that of course the duty will increase the price to the consumer, but can't see the relevancy of such a fact. According to The Dispatch, the duty would cheapen the drug, but then that paper has not yet gathered Philadelphia's impudence. It still has a sufficient sense of shame to make expenses.

We notice that Senator Farwell is again making a new slate for the federal offices in Chicago. It contains a long list of new names that he will recommend to the president. Farwell must be an indecisive sort of fellow. It will be noted that he makes up one of these slates every other day, and the work promises to become one of daily occurrence before long. The much troubled senator has recommended about every republican in Chicago, and now the question arises, where will he go for material in about a week hence? There doesn't seem to be in all Chicago a man who can satisfy the fastidious taste of the president. This is a little tough on our Chicago republicans when you remember that Harrison does not require any more in the great moral line than is wrapped up in such a man as Dudley of Indiana. If there is not a republican in Chicago as good a man as the "blocks of five" here, we are in favor of a bill to move the penitentiary from Joliet to the windy city. It will become cheaper to take the pen to the prisoners than to take the prisoners to the pen.

But maybe Harrison would like to appear on outskirts to federal positions in this state, and so has taken this means to make his wishes bear fruit. After our senators have named everybody in Illinois, they will have to go to Indiana for men and more select material. Well, the times are a little bit hard on the republican who is unfortunate enough to live in Illinois. But they are not half as hard on him as he is on this state. This man who swore off anything while surrounded by the kind of weather we had yesterday deserves the distinction of being canonized before death.

What a pleasure it will be to make up with old habits again this morning. The reconciliations of estranged lovers are not sweet.

BETWEEN the rain, the filter and the affidavit, a la guipe must prove a pleasant diversion to the people of Decatur.

Now just stand around and watch the filter break the record. We may expect it to serve up McGinty.

MORNING REVIEW

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1890.

GENERAL AND PERSONAL.

M. F. Glare has returned to Chicago. Dr. Catto was at Waukesha yesterday. Dan Moore is back from a visit to Peoria.

A. F. Smith left for Benetton yesterday on business. John Hatfield is looking for business in Nebraska.

Architect McNabb has returned from Dr. Soto, Mo.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Garland, 321 East Wood street, a daughter—a New Year's gift.

Mrs. K. Einstein is visiting friends at Louisville, Ky.

H. W. Knight returned from a trip to Peoria yesterday.

Ralph, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Combs, is very sick.

W. T. Nelson of Niantic was a visitor yesterday to Decatur.

W. O. Jarrett, of Niantic, is the guest of G. W. Jones in Decatur.

W. A. Edwards left last night for Auton, Ill., to visit his sister.

Mrs. Florence Mayhall, of East St. Louis, is visiting relatives in the city.

Attorney George E. Wickens has gone to Taylorville on legal business.

Corry Rhodes, of Monticello, spent the first day of the year in Decatur.

Hiram P. Ward and James Mayhall, of Marion, are visiting in this city.

J. M. Anderson and wife, of Alledo, Ill., are staying at the St. Nicholas yesterday.

Walter Strange was at Chicago yesterday and saw the anarchist last night.

Misses Grace Carter and Clara Rogers, of Clinton, were in the city yesterday.

J. J. Miller, of Mt. Vernon, Ill., is the guest of his brother-in-law, A. F. Ross.

Arthur Gallagher, a student at the military school at Highland Park is in the city on a visit.

Wm. Yockey of Chicago, returned home yesterday after a visit of several days in Decatur.

Third, children found begging on the streets shall be arrested by the police and committed to the home, and it shall be the duty of the superintendent, assisted by the Women's Industrial Union, to cause an investigation to be made and if such children are found to be dependent children under the statute law, they shall be brought before the county court and disposed of as the state law directs.

Fourth, work of some kind, under the management of the superintendent, shall be provided for the inmates of the home.

A wood yard shall be established in connection with the city prisons or police stations, where prisoners arrested for drunkenness, disorderly conduct, vagrancy or other petty crimes, shall saw and split kindling wood or do other work during the term of their imprisonment, and men begging for food or fed shall be sent to this yard and allowed to work a fixed time for meals and lodgment. A city policeman shall always have charge of this yard.

The overseer of the yard shall send to the home for the friendless women and children who having no home, are now being supported by the country outside of the poor house, and shall make suitable provisions for their maintenance in the home.

Miss Emma Cain, of Sullivan, is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. M. Murphy, on East North street.

Miss May Evans left yesterday at noon for Oak Park, where she is teaching the public school.

H. C. Montgomery and H. Heinenman, of Marion, were among other visitors to Decatur yesterday.

Perry Odor returned to Chicago yesterday after a pleasant visit here with relatives.

Miss Ellen Golden, of Havana, who has been the guest of Miss Flora B. Smith during the holidays, returned last night to the poor house, provided the Woman's Industrial Charitable Union shall pledge themselves to establish such a school.

We would recommend that the county establish within the Marion county jail some kind of a manufacturing plant. Bask t, making or chair caning recommended for inside work, and brick making for outside work.

ED HILL, Grant Price, Archie Wilson, James Freeman and James Cochran went down to Macon last night.

Miss Maud Calhoun returned to Clinton yesterday, after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Calhoun, in this city.

Gone Bonne had new radishes for his New Year dinner yesterday that grew out of doors in the ground. He has had lettuce until they are tired of it.

The West End dancing club of last season arranged a party for last night in Mrs. Seligwick's hall, but gave it up on account of the downpour from the heavens.

J. M. Converse, who has been for some time traveling salesman for Young Bros. & Maris, left the city yesterday to go on the road for W. A. Tatum & Co., of Chicago.

L. R. Mills and L. A. Buckingham were in Waukesha yesterday, the former to prosecute and the latter to defend Sam Riddle, who is charged with using untoward language towards the postmaster's wife at that place.

A Curious Find.

When a REVIEWER entered his lonely room the other morning, after the night's work was done, he found upon his virtuous couch a neatly bound bundle of clothes. He supposed it was his laundry, of course, although it did look entirely too capacious; but upon opening the package there were more curious things unfolded to his gaze than you ever dreamed of in your philosophy. Horatio. There were frills, and laces, and furbelows, and he didn't know what they were, whose they were or what they were doing in his room. "It's clothes never were cut in any such shape as these, and he couldn't wear them anyway. They must belong to some deformed, or very scrawny person, because some of them have curious kinds of ripples, pouches, or—call 'em what you please—for these deformities to hide in, and some of them haven't any sleeves. Whoever has lost any such garments can have them and welcome, and it is hoped it will never occur again."

An Officer Assaulted.

Last night about 12 o'clock Constable Bailey was eating a lunch in Jacob's restaurant on Lincoln Square, when two toughs, named Mike Phelan and "Dug" Mulren, started a row with him. One of them attacked him from the rear and the other on the side. They went out of the restaurant on the street, where the fight became earnest, and the constable would probably have had a hard time if had not Policeman John G. Stober opportunely come along and aided Bailey to arrest the men. They were placed in the caboose and will be given a hearing to-day.

WHAT IS WANTED.

The Recommendations to be Made on the Workhouse Question.

No definite action was taken at the meeting of the joint committees of the Canaria Union, council, and county board, but a report was discussed, which embodies the recommendations below. It is certain that at the final meeting next Monday the report then presented will be adopted. Its important features are these:

The first and imperative need of the Industrial and Charitable union, if they are to do good work, is some place where a bed and a meal may be furnished at any time that the exigencies of the case require such a refuge.

If it were known that such a place existed it would be useless for a beggar to start at dark and canvas the town till 9 o'clock for 25 cents for a bed for his child, for in every case he would have been referred to this Friendly Inn, Home, Refuge or Station. The money given in Decatur two weeks ago to one man who thoroughly canvassed the town three nights in succession, collecting a quarter from hundreds of kind-hearted people, for a bed for his little ones, would have supported this home for a month.

Again, if children, found begging on the streets are arrested, there must be some place to care for them; if we know that these habitual beggars would be arrested, the parents would cease to sell the clothing given them, clothe them in rags, abuse every day and send them out to beg again, as is done in Decatur every day.

We therefore ask that the city and county shall aid us in establishing some such home and suggest the following basis of agreement:

First, a home for friendless women and children shall be established, where eats shall be provided, in one room, for women and children, begging for lodgings, and another where women arrested for disorderly conduct or petty crime shall be locked up during the term of their imprisonment, and this home shall be supported by the city as a police station.

Second, the superintendent of this home shall be a woman, who shall be granted the powers of a police officer, and shall be paid as such by the city.

Third, children found begging on the streets shall be arrested by the police and committed to the home, and it shall be the duty of the superintendent, assisted by the Women's Industrial Union, to cause an investigation to be made and if such children are found to be dependent children under the statute law, they shall be brought before the county court and disposed of as the state law directs.

Fourth, work of some kind, under the management of the superintendent, shall be provided for the inmates of the home.

A wood yard shall be established in connection with the city prisons or police stations, where prisoners arrested for drunkenness, disorderly conduct, vagrancy or other petty crimes, shall saw and split kindling wood or do other work during the term of their imprisonment, and men begging for food or fed shall be sent to this yard and allowed to work a fixed time for meals and lodgment. A city policeman shall have charge of this yard.

The head of supervisors shall rent or otherwise supply a suitable building where an industrial school shall be established, to which shall be committed all dependent children sent to the industrial school.
